Key Features and Risk Disclosure:

- 1 The BOCHK Hong Kong Dollar Income Fund ^Δ(the "Sub-Fund") seeks to provide a stable income stream and long-term capital appreciation through investing at least 70% of its non-cash assets in a portfolio which mainly consists of Hong Kong dollar denominated investment grade bonds. The Sub-Fund may invest not more than 30% of its Net Asset Value in debt instruments with loss-absorption features (LAP).
- 2 Investment involves risks and the Sub-Fund may not be suitable for anyone. Past performance is not indicative of future performance. The Sub-Fund is subject to market and exchange rate fluctuations and to the risks inherent in all investments. Price of Units and the income (if any) generated from the Sub-Fund may go down as well as up. Investors could face no returns and/or suffer significant loss related to the investments. There is no guarantee in respect of repayment of principal.
- 3 The key risks to which the Sub-Fund is subject to include: general investment risk, currency risk, concentration risk, credit/counterparty risk, credit rating risk, downgrading risk, interest rate risk, valuation risk, derivative instruments risk, risk in relation to distribution, RMB currency and conversion risks, risk relating to those class(es) of units denominated in a currency other than the base currency, cross-class liability risk and risk associated with instruments with loss-absorption features.
- 4 In respect of Class A – HKD Dis Units, Class A – USD Dis Units and Class A – RMB Dis Units for the Sub-Fund, the Manager will normally make distributions out of net income received or receivable. However, in the event that the net income is insufficient to pay the distributions that it declares, the Manager may also, in its absolute discretion, determine that distributions be paid out of capital, or the Manager may, in its discretion, pay distributions out of the gross income while charging / paying all or part of the fees and expenses to/out of capital, resulting in an increase in distributable income for the payment of distributions and therefore, the Sub-Fund may effectively pay distributions out of capital. This may reduce the capital available for investment in future and may constrain capital growth.
- 5 Investors should be aware that in circumstances where distributions are paid out of capital or effectively out of capital, this amounts to a return or withdrawal of part of the amount investors originally invested or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Any distributions involving payment of distributions out of capital or payment of distributions effectively out of capital (as the case may be) may result in an immediate decrease in the Net Asset Value per Unit of the relevant class.
- 6 Please refer to the offering document of the Sub-Fund for further details including investment objectives and policies, charges and expenses, and risk factors, before making any investment decision.
